Supermarkets battle over building, Appellate Court hearing planned

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A court hearing will be held in early March in the Appellate Court in Mount Vernon to begin to resolve an ongoing battle between Schnucks and Shop 'n Save over Shop 'n Save's efforts to build a new store in Nameoki Village.

Schnucks, which has a store in the shopping center, was denied a preliminary injunction last spring to halt construction of the Shop 'n Save. Work proceeded for about four months.

But when Schnucks asked for a permanent injunction in October, Wetterau Inc., parent company of Shop 'n Save, voluntarily stopped construction until the lawsuit could be settled.

Bill Travis, an attorney for Shop 'n Save, said no lease rights would be violated because the Shop 'n Save would cover its sewer line and infringe on its parking and accessibility.

'Any delay that Schnucks can inflict on us obviously improves their market position.'

Matthew McCarthy,
Wetterau attorney

Matthew McCarthy, an attorney for Wetterau, denies both allegations.

He suggested that the litigation is just a nuisance suit to improve Schnucks' market position.

"Any delay that Schnucks can inflict on us obviously improves their market position," McCarthy said.

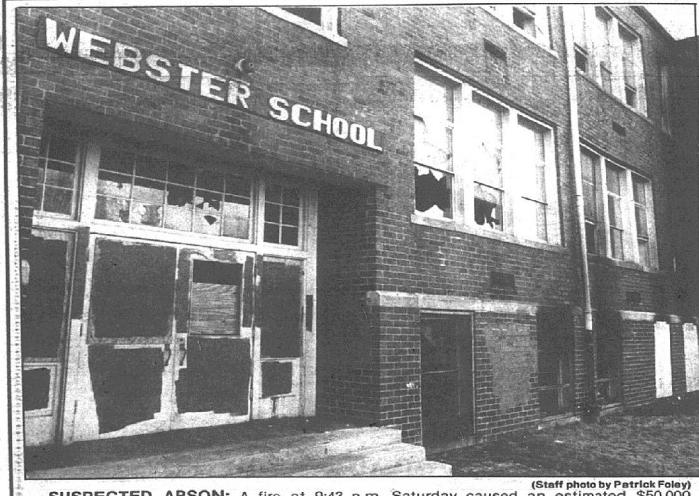

He said the company stopped construction because it didn't want to invest any more money in construction until it knew the result of the lawsuit.

He said the company has not yet closed on a contract with the Don Soffer Land Trust, which owns the site.

The new store would be Shop 'n Save's second on Nameoki Road.

The chain's other store, located at 3250 Nameoki Road in Belmore Village, is a 23,000-square-foot store.

The new and much larger store would be only a short distance from Schnucks, which is located at 3401 Nameoki Road.

SUSPECTED ARSON: A fire at 9:43 p.m. Saturday caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the former Webster School at 3401 East 28th Street. Clean-up crews and four fire trucks were on the scene for 3½ hours. The cause of the fire, which was confined to the basement, is suspected to be arson and is under investigation. Webster School is scheduled for demolition in late spring to make way for a neighborhood park.

Buyers interested in County Federal

By Jason Moody
Staff writer

WASHINGTON — Although the Madison County Federal Savings and Loan Association in Granite City is still operating at a loss, a number of qualified investors have expressed interest in purchasing it, according to the thrift's federally appointed managing agent.

The investors, who were not identified by name, have been appraised as qualified buyers, and the regional office of the Resolution Trust Corporation, the new agency created by Congress to dispose of all failing thrifts.

"We are hopeful that something will be culminated in the near future," said Roy Adreon, the managing agent for the Granite thrift.

There have been no official bids but Adreon said some are anticipated.

According to Dick Fishman, a spokesman for the RTC's regional office in Kansas City, Mo., when investors express interest in a thrift, they first must be approved as qualified bidders.

"The qualified parties are then invited to a bidders meeting and after that they can go directly to the institution (to) look at its loans and certain things in its file," he said.

Although Madison F&S&L currently accepts new deposit, loans have been restricted to existing customers.

"We are open for business but operations are being slowed to shrink the association," Adreon said.

However, Adreon said the thrift is in better condition than it was before the RTC took over, although it still operates in the red.

"The forward view is that the association has an excellent potential and would be a very valuable acquisition for an investor that can properly capitalize it," Adreon said. "It has a well-established office, all of which provide a good, strong deposit base."

Since President George Bush signed legislation giving RTC the power and money to dispose of sick or failed savings and loans, 40 thrifts with about $12 billion in deposits have been sold.

But the agency has been criticized in recent months for moving too slowly in selling S&Ls.

At a recent congressional hearing, RTC acting chairman John Robson said an additional $40 billion to $100 billion in federal funds may be needed to complete the job.

Cleanup campaign seeking volunteers

Heal out the Hefty bags and let the games begin!

Volunteer teams are being sought for the 11th annual Stash-the-Trash cleanup campaign sponsored by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce April 21.

Last year, more than 2,000 people collected 35 tons of trash in the yearly effort to beautify the community.

Teams from various businesses also compete to see which team can collect the most bags of trash. Last year's winning team represented Chain of Rocks Landfill.

A team from Coldwell Banker/Star Realty was the first group to toss in its business card as a team of trash collectors.

"We work in Granite City and we like to put our best foot forward," said Kathy Suess of Coldwell.

Traditionally, groups of young people such as scouts, church organizations and school groups work the parks and downtown areas, while groups of adults pick up along highways.

The event has grown since its inception, according to the chamber's Shirley Bush. This year, the chamber hopes to encourage businesses or groups to "adopt" a block, building or area and keep it clean year-round.

"I really believe in this — it's a great community-pride thing," said Suess.

ST. LOUIS — A recently married construction worker, described as quiet and hard working, died Monday after being buried in a wall of dirt at a construction site.

John Kitzman III, 21, of Granite City, was one of four workers in a 15-foot-deep hole at the Mobil Oil station at the 9000 block of Illinois Avenue about 2 p.m., when one side of the excavation collapsed, authorities said.

"We were working in the hole when the side wall just caved in," said Tony Collida, 36. "He was buried in the middle and it just buried him."

Collida and the other workers scrambled to safety and then tried frantically to save their co-worker, who had been buried under about three feet of dirt.

"We used our shovels, our hands, anything we could to get him uncovered," Collida said. They managed to clear the dirt from his face and chest.

By Andy Siering

TROY, Tenn. — A Memphis, Tenn., man was charged with murder in the death last week of Roy "Jasper" Pendleton, 69, of Troy, formerly of Granite City.

Lloyd Hampton, 36, was arrested by Troy police Sgt. William Brown at 1 a.m. Friday on an unclassified aggravated battery charge.

During the arrest, Brown discovered that Hampton was driving Pendleton's vehicle.

Pendleton's body was found a short time later in his room at the Carol House Inn on Edwardsville Road (Illinois 162).

The room had been ransacked, and several items belonging to Pendleton were found in Hampton's possession. Troy Police Chief Robert Nooman said.

Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said the cause of death was asphyxiation.

Pendleton had also been stabbed in the neck, she said.

The motive for Pendleton's murder was apparently robbery, Nooman said.

Sheriff mulls screening of deputies

By David Migoya
Special to the Journal

EDWARDSVILLE — Madison County sheriff's deputies may be required to take drug tests if a plan pursued by Sheriff Bob Churchill is approved.

But legal questions may delay or kill the plan for random, unannounced drug tests in the 112-member department. Churchill said the state's attorney's office is reviewing the legality of his plan.

Churchill said the arrest of a county corrections officer, Orlan Johnson, for selling cocaine and marijuana has two weapons at his disposal: employee-testing.

"With drug usage as prevalent as it is, there's a need to show the public this department is drug-free," Churchill said last week. "Our officers have two weapons at their disposal: employee-testing."

Churchill said the arrest of a county corrections officer, Orlan Johnson, for selling cocaine and marijuana has two weapons at his disposal: employee-testing.

During questioning by police, the officer, Richard King, identified a road deputy as a frequent user of cocaine.

Churchill said no employee has voiced criticism of the tests.

"Some deputies say they'd like to be sure their badge is comprending everything in its situation," he said.

A random drug-testing program also would have to be approved by unions representing department employees.

The department currently requires only pre-employment drug tests.

'Soap' opera: Railroad trailers entered

A security guard at the Gateway Western Railroad arts reported seeing several people enter the Venice railroad yards and then spotted four men running across the tracks into Wiggins Yard 2 at 12:18 a.m. Thursday.

Officers who loaded with soap products had 10 cases of Dove and Caress soap missing. The second trailer entered was loaded with cornmeal. Nothing appeared to be missing from the second trailer, police said.

Assault charge filed

Three charges were filed against a Granite City man who allegedly became violent while a relative was being questioned by police at 1:15 a.m. Feb. 6.

Mike S. Hart, 18, of the 900 block of 24th Street took exception to questions being asked of a family member. He allegedly became interfering in the conversation and was asked to step back inside and stay out of the way, police said.

When Police Sgt. Jeff Parker tried to close a screen door to keep Hart from coming toward officers, Hart allegedly struck Parker through the glass screen door, striking Parker's face with glass.

Advised he was under arrest, Hart pulled away and ran to a kitchen drawer, allegedly trying to get a knife while making threats toward the officers.

The man also fought violently with the officers in the kitchen for two or three minutes before being subdued, a report alleged.

Hart was charged with aggravated assault, resisting arrest and obstructing a peace officer, all a class A offense, and was fined $450. He was ordered to pay the fines by May 4.

Beaten man released at SEMC

GRANITE CITY — A 23-year-old city man, severely beaten by four other men, was released Sunday from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The victim, Bill Webb, 23, of the 2100 block of 14th Street had been admitted at 1:40 a.m. Feb. 8.

Webb suffered broken ribs, swelling to the right side of his face, a partially collapsed lung, bleeding to his stomach and back, and a broken rib, medical personnel informed police.

Webb was walking in a 14th Street alley by the railroad tracks when he was attacked by four men.

The assailants threw him to the ground, hit him with their fists and kicked him, Webb told police. He was unable to identify his attackers and could not provide a reason for the beating.

After the assailants left, the victim walked to the home of a friend nearby and the friend took him to the emergency room.

Robber takes money at motel

GRANITE CITY — A man armed with a small automatic pistol got $214 in a robbery at the Granite City Lodge, 1200 19th Street, at 9:52 p.m. Feb. 8. The suspect, described as a black male in his late 20s, was armed with a handgun.

Morgan denied having a key, but the man insisted. After several threats, Morgan opened the register and started handing money to the man, a little at a time.

Morgan said the man then hit him in the head with his gun hand and fled.

The robber was described as black, 6 feet tall, weighing 160 pounds and in his mid-30s. He had a mustache and several days' growth of whiskers.

He was dressed in a gray jacket, a red-checked shirt, blue jeans and brown boots tied with red laces.

Police made a search of the area and were unable to locate the robber.

Retailers applaud check laws

Illinois retailers now have greater support from the state's laws against bad check writers, thanks to a bill signed by Gov. James Thompson.

Senate Bill 125, sponsored by Sen. John Davidson, R-Springfield, toughens retail bad check sentencing statutes by prohibiting a second or subsequent conviction for a second or subsequent conviction with five years.

The law also helps retailers by closing a loophole in the civil collection of bad checks. Previous statutes required the receipt of a notice sent by certified mail to the writer of the check and a seven-day grace period prior to prosecution.

Experienced bad-check artists evaded the law by simply refusing delivery of the notice. Proof of mailing now satisfies the prerequisite to prosecution.

"Retailers commend the General Assembly and governor for enacting this important legislation," said Illinois Retail Merchants Association President David F. Vite.

Landfill fears called unfounded

By Bob Sauer
Staff writer

COLLINSVILLE — Plans to expand the former Barton Landfill drew criticism from several Madison County officials at a Southwestern Illinois Mayors' Council meeting Wednesday, but not from Collinsville City Engineer Ken Keene.

Keene said he believes that many fears regarding landfills and their impact on the environment are unfounded. He said today's landfills are much safer than in the past.

"The attitude of people in the country on landfills amazes me," Keene said. "I don't know what people think we are going to do with garbage."

We don't have much to fear from a modern landfill, opening up expanding," Keene added, relating his experience with the old Collinsville landfill on Marion Road.

He said Collinsville is still monitoring its old landfill, which closed in 1982. The city had paid nearly $500,000 to close the dump.

Keene also indicated his concern about possible groundwater contamination created by the expansion of the former Barton Landfill, recently renamed the Cahokia Road Sanitary Landfill. Troy Mayor Velda Armes echoed DeToye's comments.

"We have the same concerns as Dennis," Armes said. "They are concerned about the drinking water and it's not just talk. People are genuinely concerned."

Scott Schreiber, regional engineer for Laidlaw Waste Systems, defended his company's plans to expand the Cahokia Road Landfill, recently renamed by the city of Edwardsville.

Schreiber said it was "technically impossible" for landfill leakage to affect area wells.

Calling the disposal of trash a "serious problem" in the future, Schreiber outlined the company's plans to ensure that the landfill does not harm the area water supply.

By virtue of the land's geography, the water beneath the landfill site will flow directly into a creek and not go past the creek; all the water will go down hill into the creek, he said.

"There has been a lot of misunderstanding. People say that if our landfill leaks, it could possibly affect the well fields," he said. "That simply won't happen."

In response to a question, Schreiber said,

"All landfills leak. But the seepage will flow into a nearby creek" in this case.

Armes said that leakage can be prevented from seeping under the creek and into the Edwardsville well if the creek is only 10 feet deep.

Schreiber responded that the pressure will cause the groundwater to move upward.

"We are concerned about the drinking water," DeToye said, "not for the 30 years Laidlaw may be in business and monitoring this, but 100 or 200 years."

He questioned the kind of materials that will go into the landfill and the fact that Roxana is buying the property, "is calling the shots for the whole county."

Answering a question on Roxana's interest in annexing the land that houses the landfill, Roxana Water Superintendent Marty Reynolds said the village's interests are environmental.

"Roxana doesn't have to grab every dollar that comes along," Reynolds said.

"I know that Edwardsville and Troy are concerned about the water and we are, too," he said. "But it is a situation that we have to deal with."

Low-income child care

The Children's Home and Aid Society has developed a network of family child care homes in Madison and St. Clair counties.

These homes are licensed, trained and monitored on a monthly basis to ensure that quality developmental child care is provided for each child enrolled.

Services are available for children ages six weeks to 12 years. Parents are working or going to school. Eligibility is determined by (1) total family income and (2) family size.

There are spaces for up to 100 children in this network of homes in the two counties. Services are normally provided Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Madison wants to sell land eyed by landfill

MADISON — The City Council has adopted a resolution Tuesday setting the stage for the sale of six acres of city property near the old Chain of Rocks Bridge to Waste Management Inc.

The company wants the land for its clay pit which it would use to cover trash in its landfill operation near the bridge. The acreage is located north of the road leading to the bridge and across from the landfill.

Under the terms of the resolution, an appraisal must be conducted first, and the sale will be conducted by the city comptroller, Rick Tutka.

Attorney John Gitchoff told the council that Waste Management Inc. wanted the property zoned M-1 Industrial, which, she said, would be useful as landfill core. He said the appraisal would take into account the value of clay which he estimated at $1.38 per cubic yard.

Mom conquers inability to read

By Meg Tebo
Staff writer

Dametra Knust was so adept at hiding the fact that she can't read or write that only her family and a close friend knew the young mother was unable to order from a menu, fill out a job application or read a newspaper.

Knust, 27, left school in the seventh grade and has not put up with her new husband.

In 1987, she moved back to this area but was too ashamed of her inability to read to seek help.

Finally, in August 1987 a friend called the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center on Knust's behalf and asked for some materials the friend could help Knust study at home. The two studied the materials together for eight months and brought Knust's reading to the first-grade level.

"I always wanted to learn to read, but I was scared. I had been out of school for so long, I didn't know if I could do it," said Knust.

In March 1988, she entered Venice-Lincoln Technical Center in the Adult Literacy program. She has since raised her reading to the seventh-grade level and plans to take an eighth-grade General Educational Development, equivalency test this spring.

She also plans to study toward a GED high school equivalency certificate.

Then, she said, she plans to study word processing and business at the technical center.

Along with the rise in her reading ability has come a dramatic improvement in Knust's self-esteem.

"I know what I'm looking for now in life. I trust myself, and I'm much more independent. I feel 100 percent better—everything is positive now where it used to be negative," she said.

Knust attended two grade schools in St. Louis as a child. She said that although her inability to read was never been obvious, she was always passed to the next grade anyway.

Finally, for the seventh grade she was sent to a special magnet school where she finally began making some reading progress. But, at the end of that school year came a husband and a baby and a move out of state.

Knust now works at the National Bankers store in Granite City, and says one of her proudest accomplishments was filling out the job application on her own.

"I used to have to hide my inability to read from my employers and co-workers. Now, I'm very proud of my progress and I'm not ashamed to let people know I couldn't read," she said.

"Now I can take care of myself. I don't have to depend on anybody else. I know I can go out there and do it," she said.

Tuition increases outpace state education spending

Spending for higher education in Illinois grew more than 70 percent in the 1980s, but tuition and fees nearly tripled during the same period, according to State Comptroller Roland W. Burris' monthly fiscal report.

Burris noted that higher education takes the fourth largest bite out of state appropriation. The fiscal year 1989 spending level was $1.821 billion, compared to $1.062 billion in FY80, an increase of $2,435 billion, an 83 percent increase over FY80. This was due in part to the temporary state income tax increase, a portion of which went to higher education spending.

Average state university tuition and fees are almost 2.7 times greater than they were 10 years ago.

Though General Funds spending for all higher education grew by 50.8 percent during the past decade, it only accounted for 73.2 percent of total higher education spending, compared to 83.3 percent in 1980.

The average tuition and fees at a state university in FY80 totaled $629, and $469 at a community college. The figures for last year were $2,222 and $896, respectively.

Tuition at private institutions has jumped from $3,521 to $7,603 in Illinois.

Total enrollment last year was 693,321, compared to 665,247 a decade ago. Highest total enrollment during the decade was 746,913 in FY82, according to Burris' study.

His report further shows that current fiscal year (FY90) appropriations for higher education totaled $2,435 billion, an 83 percent increase over FY80. This was due in part to the temporary state income tax increase, a portion of which went to higher education spending.

Only public aid, elementary and secondary education and transportation take bigger chunks from the state budget.

"Public universities account for more than 70 percent of higher education spending."

The average tuition and fees at a state university in FY80 totaled $629, and $469 at a community college. The figures for last year were $2,222 and $896, respectively.

Enforcement

The company has also asked Roxana to allow an expansion of the facility. A similar expansion request was denied by the county two years ago.

The county's November commission of SURTECH Corp., a Chesterfield-based aerial topographic mapping service, to prepare aerial maps of both the Cahokia Road facility and a landfill located on Oldham Island, operated by Waste Management of America, to find out whether the firms were exceeding the maximum heights permitted.

The maps for the Cahokia Road landfill were received by the county planning and zoning office last Friday.

According to county environmental control committee chairman Dick Worthen, D-Alton, the maps show that the company has exceeded its maximum height by as much as 15 feet in some portions of the 30-acre landfill.

Ken Mensing, a spokesman for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in Collinsville, said, "We're at the peak limit for the landfill in the permit is listed as 535 feet."

Mensing said that under revised state law governing landfill operations, "any vertical addition to a landfill beyond the maximum height is pretty insignificant."

However, Mensing said that the IEPA, which has landfill permit enforcement authority, does not routinely check landfill elevations except when a landfill is being built.

"I have a feeling there are some board members so much against us that they are grasping at straws. Anything they can think of to try and paint us black," Schreiber said.

Laidlaw denies height violations

By John Milazzo

EDWARDSVILLE — A spokesman for Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc. Wednesday denied allegations that the company has overfilled portions of the former Edwardsville landfill.

Scott Schreiber of Laidlaw also accused some county officials of going out of their way to place the company in a bad light.

The company owns the landfill, located northwest of Edwardsville in an area recently annexed by the village of Roxana, and recently renamed the Cahokia Road Sanitary Landfill.

The company has also asked Roxana to allow an expansion of the facility. A similar expansion request was denied by the county two years ago.

However, Mensing said that the IEPA, which has landfill permit enforcement authority, does not routinely check landfill elevations except when a landfill is being built.

"We do our own maps each year and know where we are in terms of elevation," Schreiber said. "We know what our permit is and so does the IEPA."

However, Mensing said that the IEPA, which has landfill permit enforcement authority, does not routinely check landfill elevations except when a landfill is being built.

"I have a feeling there are some board members so much against us that they are grasping at straws. Anything they can think of to try and paint us black," Schreiber said.

Early bird gets quick return

The early bird gets a quicker refund, and according to the Internal Revenue Service, people who file early usually make fewer mistakes, too.

If you send in your return now, there's a good chance you'll get your refund check within four to six weeks, the IRS said. If you wait until March or April, it can often take six to eight weeks or longer.

Here are some IRS tips that can cut down on errors and help speed your tax refund to you.

*Write the full name and, if age two or more, the social security number of each dependent you claim on the front of your form.

*Get a W-2 form from each employer you worked for during 1989 and attach it to your return. Most banks and businesses are also required to give you a year-end statement, usually a Form 1099.

*Sign your return. If you're single and file a joint return, both husband and wife must sign.

*Use the pre-addressed label that came with your tax package.

*Mail your form in the pre-addressed envelope that came with your tax package. Be sure to put enough postage on the envelope.

Merla said, "Scouting has been growing rapidly in our community. We have new programs for young people of all ages."

"One of the big successes last year was introduction of the career awareness program in Granite City High School, where the Scouts have arranged for business professionals to lead discussions with students and help them make career decisions.

"The people in our community gave us over $16,000 last year. Our 1990 campaign started with over $1,600 from just one meeting."

The tradition lives

Sophomore King only Warrior to qualify for state meet

By Mike Kelly
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Ryan King kept a tradition alive on Saturday at the Granite City Sectional.

The 103-pound sophomore was Granite City's final hope to reach the state tournament in Champaign this weekend. And he failed; it would have been the first time in nearly 40 years that the Warriors failed to have a state qualifier.

But King (32-11), who put together one of the best performances of the season, saved the day by knocking off Steve Mitchell of Civic Memorial 5-0 in the third-place match.

Cahokia let all teams by advancing seven wrestlers to the state tournament, which begins with preliminary matches Friday at 10 a.m. The Comanches, the team regional champions, had four individual champions Saturday.

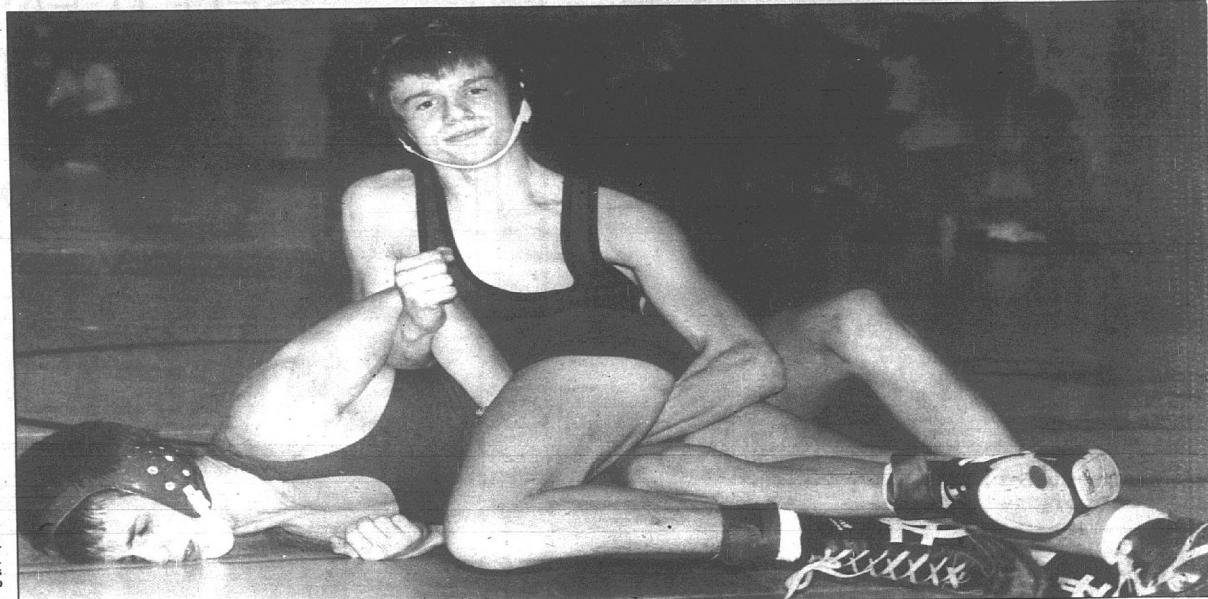

"I'm tickled to death," said Granite City coach Mike Garland. "I'm really pleased with Ryan. The kid had his back to the wall and got to the state tournament. But he did a great job keeping him at 103 pounds."

"The weight didn't really come into play until after the holidays. I guess Ryan hit a growth spurt, grew taller, got stronger. His bone structure got bigger. Then it became tougher for him to keep the weight off during the week."

"So we decided to start cutting the weight on Sundays instead of Wednesdays in order to be prepared for our meets. But the kid made the sacrifices and he was rewarded with a trip to the state tournament."

King, who had gone out of four matches over the weekend, suffered his only setback against

RYAN KING looks confident as he disposes of Cahokia's Brandon Lott in a 103-pound wrestleback match Saturday afternoon at the Granite City

Sectional. King beat Lott 7-1, then beat Civic Memorial's Steve Mitchell 5-0 to take third place and advance to state.

Newson, Griffins oust skaters

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

ST. LOUIS — Seeing a hockey player named Brett score a lot around here. But it was Brett Newson the Warriors got an eyeful of over the weekend, not Brett Hull.

Newson, the leading scorer in the Mid-States Club Hockey Association, scored nine goals in two games as Vianney (17-4-2) eliminated Granite City in the first round of the MSCHA playoffs with a two-game sweep. The Griffins won 8-1 on Saturday and 8-0 Monday. Newson had five goals Saturday in the clincher Monday at the North County Recreation Complex.

Vianney moves on to the quarterfinals while the Warriors ended their season at 10-10-3. Monday marked the final high school game for Matt Schnefke and eight other Warrior seniors.

"They just had too many skaters," said Warrior coach Garry Johnson. "We ran around a little on that first power play and it cost us."

Indeed, the Warriors managed to keep the Monday game score (See HOCKEY, Page 3B)

Red Devils win fifth straight; Trojans get back to .500 mark

The Red Devils continued to rev up for the post-season while the Trojans made it back to the .500 level over the weekend.

Venice (21-5) won its fifth straight game with a 70-60 win over Mount Meridian. Junior Ervin Claggett, seventh in the area scoring race, scored 23 points as the Devils broke open a close game by outscoring the Bobcats 17-9 in the fourth quarter.

Meridian led 34-30 at halftime, but the Devils had four players in double figures. Seniors John White (13 points) and Doug Johnson (10) joined sophomore

The Devils wrap up the regular season with a 10-1 home record, while Marquette Alton Marquette (15-7). They will play either Madison or Lovejoy next Wednesday in the Freeburg Regional semifinals. Venice is the top seed.

Venice improved to 10-10 with a 54-44 win over Belleville East at home Saturday. It was Madison's sixth win over a Class AA school this year. Sophomore Ron Lott and freshman Torrey Denz each scored 12 points, as DOUG JOHNSON of Venice guards his man. Johnson and his fellow seniors will play their last home game Friday against Alton Marquette.

Four of Madison's losses have come to Class AA schools, all on the road. Their other losses have come against Class A schools such as Venice, Springfield Calvary and Lebanon, all on the road. The Trojans are 5-0 at home this year and hosted Waterloo Gibson on Tuesday. Waterloo plays at Madison in an 8 p.m. game Friday before the Trojans play at Cahokia on Saturday to wrap up the regular season.

Madison has beaten the Comanches twice this year, but Cahokia has won four straight since the start of the year. A 70-64 win Friday over three-time defending state champion East St. Louis Lincoln.

The Trojans will face Lovejoy (7-12) in the first round of the Freeburg Regional at 7:30 p.m. Monday, then will likely get a rematch with Venice.

Norwegian's big band a hit with cruisers

By Jeannie Block
For the Journal

Few cruise ship passengers normally stay up for late-night dancing, but for one week last November on Norwegian Cruise Line's Norway, things were different. They could have danced all night. And they did have had the musicians kept playing.

From 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. each night, the ship's two main lounges were packed with listeners and dancers for the Norway's first Big Band Festival, which brought together five of the best-known sounds of the big band heyday in the 1930s and '40s.

The bands, of course, were not the originals. They disbanded years ago. The musicians — two separate 15-piece ensembles — were brought together just for this cruise to play scores from the famed leaders' original books.

In addition to Ray Anthony, who played trumpet for Glen Miller and later formed his own still active band, and Erskine Hawkins, recently retired after nearly 50 years as a band leader, other greats also were fronted by able directors.

Bob Wilber, who performs the late Benny Goodman's works, for example, received critical acclaim a few years ago during the famous Carnegie Hall concert.

The late Woody Herman's works were directed and performed by Frank Tiberi; Dick Johnson led the Artie Shaw group; and George Johnson was on the road regularly with their own groups playing the music of Herman and Shaw, respectively.

The Norway is one of the few vessels with the facilities to accommodate big band dance bands. Each evening, one played in the Checkers Cabaret, while another enthralled listeners in the North Cape Lounge. Many passengers kept returning from one show to the next, listening and reliving the music that once was so much a part of their lives.

The ship put extra frosting on the festival cake by featuring one of the era's best known band singers, Helen O'Connell. This svelte grandmother's two shows in the Saga Theater were jammed.

Passengers also were able to take photos with the musical guests, including Ray McKinley, a drummer in Glen Miller's band who took over the band after Miller's death. On the Norway, McKinley performed some of the tunes you've Come A Long Way from St. Louis."

The ship also programmed 40 hours of big band feature films in addition to first-run films and other programming.

Sixteen theme cruises are set for the Norway this year, including two jazz festivals in October. The big band cruise will be the week of Nov. 17. Another NCL

NORWEGIAN CRUISE LINE'S Norway has several theme cruises planned this year.

Tex-Mex Spices Winter Meals

Southwestern Fare Low In Calories, Always Fun To Eat

By Lynn Venhaus
Journal Staff Writer

Here's a prescription for the winter doldrums so prevalent this time of year: Tex-Mex. Spice up a dull dreary day with a little south-of-the-border flavor. And if you worry about eating right and eating light, Tex-Mex can be surprisingly low in fat, calories and cholesterol.

If you are worried about finding Tex-Mex foods that fit an "eating light and healthy" plan, here are some guidelines:

- Limit high-fat foods such as cheese, sour cream and ground beef.
- Saute vegetables in non-stick pans, using the smallest amount of oil possible.
- Steer clear of frying.
- Use beans and vegetables to replace some or all of the meat in your favorite recipe.
- Picante sauce is five calories per tablespoon and has no fat or cholesterol.

Tex-Mex recipes often call for cilantro or coriander. It is the same thing, actually known as Chinese parsley. Its lacy delicate leaves look a little like parsley, but this herb has a very different, strong flavor. It is used both as a garnish and for flavor.

Chicken Tamale Bake

1 can (about 14 oz.) chicken broth
½ cup yellow cornmeal
1¼ cups picante sauce
1 large onion, cut into thin wedges garlic, cloves, minced
1 tsp. olive oil
1 tbsp. flour

Combine broth and cornmeal in medium saucepan. Bring to boil, stirring constantly with wire whisk. Reduce heat; simmer, stirring occasionally, about 15 minutes. Set aside. Cook onion and garlic in oil in 10-inch nonstick skillet until tender, about 4 minutes. Add chicken, picante sauce, cumin and, if desired, salt. Add green bell pepper and continue to cook until shrimp are opaque, about 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in lime juice; serve over rice. Food

A BOWL OF CHILI, with or without peppers, has a distinctive flavor that varies by region.

Simmer good taste in a bowl of chili

Whether a favorite taste orders five-alarm chili or the false alarm chili variety with no chili peppers, it is hard to beat a simple, steaming bowl of chili this time of year. It is nearly impossible to find two identical recipes for chili. Even wild ingredients have been known to plant their stamp for distinctive flavor.

While some chili purists hold that only meat and seasonings are acceptable for this traditional dish of the American southwest, the use of beans adds greatly to both the nutritional value and economy of chili. Red kidney beans or other legumes are excellent, low-cost sources of fiber and low-fat protein. With the highly seasoned taste of chili, a delicious variety is easy within reach of all.

Great chili needs time to simmer and allow flavors to blend. From time to time, taste it and test its heat (picante). The chili peppers chosen will make the difference. Some are hot, some medium, some mild. Buy fresh or dried at Mexican and Spanish stores or in the specialty food section of large supermarkets. A convenient way to add peppers to chili is to make them into saucers and then add them gradually to the pot.

Commercially prepared chili powder — a mixture of chilies, cumin, oregano, garlic and salt — can be a handy alternative to chili peppers.

The recipe here features a delicious meatless chili. It is designed to be moderately spicy, but those who prefer a milder dish simply can use less cayenne pepper. This chili can be a meal unto itself or serve as a base for yogurt combine with the chickpeas, known as garbanzo beans, to make a complete protein. Cook raw vegetables or a salad will round out the meal. Beans and rice are found in many international cuisines. A variety of tasty and healthful foods are available in "From the World — International Menus and Recipes." BRING CHINESE FOOD to the table in record time without driving to the local carryout store.

Use pantry ingredients,
‘eat Chinese’ tonight

A quick-to-fix Chinese dinner plots the easy ingredients of stir-fry against the full flavor of vegetables and seafood or meat. Keeping canned Chinese vegetables on hand makes a Chinese feast always possible. They can be used for a stir-fry or sweet-and-sour entree.

Sweet-and-sour entree.
- Stir-frying, the most common method of cooking Chinese food, was developed out of necessity. Fuel was hard to come by, so speed in cooking was a necessity. Meat, poultry and fish also were scarce, so this method also helped by stretching these ingredients to the maximum.

Sweet-and-sour pork

Prayer Breakfast continues tradition

When the Granite City Rotary Club hosted its monthly Prayer Breakfast at Charlie's First Season Restaurant on Jan. 7, 30 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 20, 1989, it was an anniversary of sorts. Their first prayer breakfast was held in December 1972.

A group of Rotarians, Bill Terrell, Frank Lind, Life Insurance; Carl Mathias, Illinois Power Co.; and Ray L. Tipton, Ringhau's United Methodist Church, approached Rotary Club President Richard West, Granite City Steel with an idea. They used the theme of Charles Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities" to present their thoughts to the club. One thought was of concern for the community in decay, the second of the driving force of community leaders fighting to create a better environment.

Leaders in politics, business, industry, education and religion were invited to the first meeting. The first speaker was Gov. Jim Gray at the City Rotary Community Action Prayer Breakfast. It was an occasion where leaders would come, not as representatives of their business or vocational activity, but as individuals.

The December Christmas meeting always focuses on a celebration of the holidays. The April meeting is traditionally the Mayor's Breakfast. Recent meetings highlighted media influence in the community. Once each year, Steve Hammon, sponsor of the Student Council at Granite City High School, brings students and the program centers on youth problems.

The structural portion of the breakfast begins with a devotion, includes a presentation of the issues and a responder, and ends with prayer.

Prayer Breakfast committee member Bill Terrell said, "Attendance varies from 35 to 50. Our first meetings were 'Dutch treat' affairs, but for the past 16½ years, various businesses in the community have paid for the breakfast."

Firms who are currently sponsoring the breakfast are: State Loan and Savings, Tri City Regional Port Authority, Central Bank,

East Side Publications, Illinois Power Co., St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Nestle, Granite City Steel and Magna Banks of Granite City. I would like to thank these and all past sponsors of our Rotary Club Prayer Breakfasts."

St. Elizabeth Medical Center sponsored this month's breakfast, which was held in the Wiesman Room of the Medical Center. Upon entering the room, Rotarians and invited guests were offered free cholesterol and blood sugar testing. Following the invocation, which was given by the Rev. Ralph Totten, the breakfast. The executive director of the medical center addressed the financial condition of that facility and the problems facing the entire health care field in the '90s.

Eilerman pointed out that the medical center has managed to hold the increase in its operations expenses to 10.7 percent, while the cost for medical services while the medical care average has been greater than 30 percent. This was accomplished despite addition of sophisticated diagnostic tools, he said.
